

Race & Equity Book Studies

My Grandmother's Hands: Racialized Trauma and the Pathway to Mending Our Hearts and Bodies

A 7-week facilitated virtual learning community to discuss this book by Resmaa Menakem. This book study is only open to members who identify as Black, Indigenous, or People of Color. Participants will be provided with the book.

Level: Intermediate

April 12-May 28, 2021. Live discussions on Thursdays from 4:30-5:30 p.m. Registration is open! Open to BIPOC participants only.

Everyday Antiracism: Getting Real About Race in School

A 6-week facilitated virtual learning community to discuss the book by Mica Pollock. This book study is only open to members who identify as Black, Indigenous, or People of Color. Participants will be provided with the book.

Level: Intermediate

April 19-May 28, 2021, live sessions on Mondays from 5:30-6:30 p.m. Registration is open! Open to BIPOC participants only.

Culturally Responsive Teaching and The Brain

In this 5-week facilitated virtual learning community, discuss the book by Zaretta Hammond. Participants are required to borrow or purchase the book. Email OEALearn@oregoned.org if you need help finding the book at your local library.

Level: Foundational

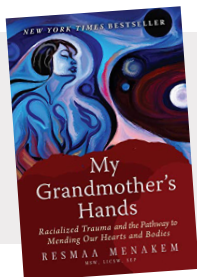

April 5 - May 14, 2021. Live discussions on Tuesdays from 6:00-7:00 p.m. Registration is open! Open to ALL members.

Cultivating Genius: An Equity Framework for Culturally and Historically Responsive Literacy

A 5-week facilitated virtual learning community to discuss the book by Gholdy Muhammad. Participants are required to borrow or purchase the book. Email OEALearn@oregoned.org if you need help finding the book at your local library.

Level: Foundational/Intermediate

April 5 - May 14, 2021. Live discussions on Wednesdays from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Registration is open! Open to ALL members.

Opportunities for PDUs and a “choose your own book study adventure”: meet virtually for informal discussion and/or develop plans for implementing new ideas and strategies for additional PDUs. Additional details on the event page.

Register for a book group: grow.oregoned.org/diversity-equity-inclusion